

SENATE ADOPTS UNUSUAL COURSE

Text of Four Treaties, Not Yet Acted On, Is Given Out.

PUBLIC OPINION WANTED

Already Some Opposition to Ratification of Peace Pacts Has Developed.

Washington, D. C., August 5.—The Senate today adopted an unusual but not unprecedented course of making public the text of four treaties which have not yet received action at its hands. These were the Anglo-American and the Franco-American general arbitration treaties, and the treaties providing for the adjustment of the finances and customs of Honduras and Nicaragua.

Publicity was given to these important conventions at the request of the Committee on Foreign Relations, which desires that the subject matter shall receive full publicity in order to enlighten the Senate as to the real sentiment of the country as a basis for its own action.

Some justification for this procedure developed today. When in the course of a short executive session two Senators of opposite parties—Borah, of Idaho, and Bacon, of Georgia—voiced their dissent to the arbitration treaties in the form of amendments. Their criticism was aimed at article 2 (identical in the two treaties), which, in their opinion, provides for compulsory arbitration, and thus tends to deprive the United States Senate of its constitutional prerogative.

The treaties advocates, however, felt that there had been a misunderstanding as to the scope of the treaty by the two Senators, and that a clause in article 1 of the treaties, which provides that there shall be no arbitration except under the terms of a special agreement, effectively guards the rights of the Senate, as such special agreement shall receive the Senate's sanction in order to become operative.

Aside from a few minutes' talk in committee and a very short debate in executive session, the treatment of the subject was purely formal. The Senate went into legislative session almost as soon as it convened, and referred the treaties to the Committee on Foreign Relations. The committee met later and adopted the resolution to make the treaties public, which received the approval of the Senate shortly afterward.

The British and French treaties are substantially the same with the exception of the preambles, some small differences in dates of existing treaties referred to therein and some of the mechanical differences between the treaty-making methods of the two governments. One important provision of the British treaty requires the British government to obtain the concurrence of any of its self-governing dominions affected by the proposed arbitration. No date has yet been set.

Home Treatment for Tuberculosis

Many people have cured themselves of Tuberculosis by using Eckman's Alternative. It has saved after other methods failed. Investigate our affidavits. Start taking the Alternative, and your improvement should be certain. From one who knows:

"In 5th St. Colwyn (Barby), Pa. (Gentlemen): For some time I was troubled with cough. A physician pronounced my case Consumption, and I was ordered to a Consumptive Hospital. My new cure would not allow me to go until I had tried Eckman's Alternative, which I did. I am in excellent health now and have been for ten years. I strongly recommend it." (Signed) MARY WASSON. Fuller details of above case on request.

Eckman's Alternative is for Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Affections. For sale by Owens & Minor Drug Co. and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet of cured cases, and write to Eckman Laboratories, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

for the consideration of the treaties by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. In the ordinary course it will meet next Wednesday, but there are indications that in view of the short time remaining of the present session, one or more special meetings may be called before that day. It is impossible to predict what the Senate will do with the committee's report when it is made, but in view of the press of important legislation it would be easy to prevent ratification of the treaties at this session if opposition developed.

In view of their importance it is believed that a motion may be made to ratify them in the open Senate, an almost unprecedented procedure.

The substance of the treaties was published the day they were signed.

WANT NEW NAME FOR NEW BRIDGE

Public Already Asking What Will Take Place of "Mayo."

Work Under Way.

Although work on the southern end of the old Mayo bridge will not begin for some time, residents of this ward are much interested in the future, and are watching the work with an eye to the business which it will bring to South Richmond in the future. The watchman at the southern end of the structure is having much trouble in keeping pedestrians off, many insisting upon walking across from the Hull Street end to the point on the northern end where work is going on.

Yesterday the question came up as to what the new bridge would be named when completed, the general idea seeming to be that the present name would not be retained, but that some historical name would be substituted. The bridge is now called by the contractors the "Mayo (Free) Bridge," for want of a better title.

Work Well Under Way.

At present the work is progressing rapidly, and there is every prospect that by July 1 of next year, the time specified in the contract for its completion, Richmond and South Richmond will be connected by one of the best bridges in the State. The process of construction was explained yesterday by an engineer of the work. The building divides itself naturally into two parts, the tearing down of the old bridge, a much harder task than the casual observer would imagine, and the building of the new structure.

The northern extremity, reaching from the city to the point where the old bridge, a much harder task than the casual observer would imagine, and the building of the new structure. The northern extremity, reaching from the city to the point where the old bridge, a much harder task than the casual observer would imagine, and the building of the new structure.

The total length of the new bridge when completed will be 1,721 feet, divided into the north and the south divisions, extending from Fourteenth Street in Richmond to Hull Street in South Richmond.

The structure in construction will be one which Richmond may well be proud. Concrete, either reinforced or plain, will be used throughout, making a strong structure to endure for a great length of time. The piers will be forty-four feet wide, with a four-foot passage on each side, and a four-foot passage on each side, and a four-foot passage on each side, and a four-foot passage on each side.

Charles E. Bolling, the City Engineer, is in charge of the construction. The resident engineer is G. E. Bowers. The working plans for the bridge were made by the Concrete, Steel and Engineering Co., of New York, and were passed upon by the board of engineers and approved by the Council. The bridge will have an average clearance of the water of twenty feet.

Meanwhile, residents of South Richmond are asking what the name of the bridge is to be.

PATENTS ISSUED REACH MILLION

Coveted Honor Goes to Puncture Proof Tire for Automobiles.

AN OHIO MAN INVENTOR

Steady Growth of Genius Shown Since Formation of Bureau.

Washington, August 5.—The millionth patent issued by the United States was announced by Commissioner of Patents Moore today. It is for a puncture proof tire, for automobiles and other vehicles depending upon rubber springs for its resiliency, and is the invention of an Akron, Ohio, man. So much interest has been displayed by the public in the completion of the number 1,000,000 that Commissioner Moore consented to announce the patent ahead of publication in the next issue of the official gazette on August 8.

Although this patent bears the number 1,000,000, it is really number 1,009,957. Until 1836, when the present bureau was organized, patents were issued without being numbered. Between 1790 and 1836, during which period patents were under control of State Department, 9,857 were issued.

A steady growth has been shown in inventive genius in the United States since the formation of the present bureau. In 1836 only 108 patents were issued, since when increases have been shown each year. During the calendar year 1909, 22,000 were issued, and in 1910 the number reached 55,118. It is believed this year will show an even greater increase. These figures do not include reissues.

In announcing the millionth patent today Commissioner Moore said no application had been selected to receive this number. He said the application came up in the regular order of business, was numbered and carried through the regular channels, and was signed without ceremony. Numerous requests were received from various inventors for this distinction, but all were denied.

GIRLS ARE DETERMINED TO MAKE THEIR ESCAPE

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Raleigh, N. C., August 5.—In the police station this afternoon were Christian Daniels and Mrs. Ada Dawson of Washington, N. C., in charge of Captain Gossett, of the Salvation Army, who is taking them to a reformatory in South Carolina. They escaped from Captain Gossett last night soon after they reached here and were waiting for a change of train at the union station, when they were found and taken in custody again. Both are under the custody of the Salvation Army by their parents. They boldly declared their determination to get away. Last night they passed a note to some Raleigh boys in the union station, being detected in the act by Captain Gossett. While he was protesting against the conduct of the boys the girls made a dash for liberty and got away. Mrs. Dawson says that she was married four months ago, and that her husband soon left her, going to Norfolk. Both girls protest that they will not remain in the home.

News of South Richmond

South Richmond Bureau.

The Times-Dispatch.

Phone Madison 175.

"There is at least one resident of South Richmond to whom the Beattie case is of no interest, who has never been heard to discuss it," said one man in Washington Ward several days ago, when the residents of that district were discussing the possibility of getting a jury from that place.

The resident to whom this man referred, however, could not in any case be considered for a jury, for he is no other than "Pat," the small monkey owned by Coroner J. W. Brodnax of Seventh Street. Just where Dr. Brodnax obtained this animal is a mooted question. The fact remains, however, that interested citizens have at different times observed "Pat" in the trees surrounding the house of the corner, and have paused to observe his antics.

"Pat" is an unusually bright member of his tribe, and in agility he surpasses anything seen in South Richmond for some time. To scramble from fence to tree, then to run up a limb until he reaches the top of the tree is for him the work of but a single moment. There he sits for a time, suddenly jumping into another tree and scrambling down to the roof of the house or to the window of the corner, in search of sugar.

For, although silent upon this important topic of discussion, "Pat" considers himself an authority on the subject of sugar, and will render an opinion upon it at any time.

In the Churches Today.

Rev. James E. Cook, of Baltimore, will preach at the Porter Street Presbyterian Church to-day at 11 A. M. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Rev. J. T. Haley, pastor of the Stockton Street Baptist Church, returned yesterday from Charlotte county, where he has conducted two meetings at Friendship, Va.

Rev. F. Wayne Long, pastor of the Cowardin Avenue Christian Church, corner of Cowardin Avenue and Buchanan Street, will conduct services as usual in that church.

At the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church, the pastor, Rev. W. G. Brown, preaches this morning upon the subject, "Forgive and Be Forgiven." The title of his sermon in the evening will be "Unlimited Salvation." The choir will render special music at both services.

At the Oak Grove Church, the pastor, Rev. D. G. Lancaster, will preach this morning. His morning subject will be "Living Good." In the evening he will take for his topic "The Life Work Abundant." At both of these services the choir will render special music.

Great Convenience.

The clerk's room in the Hustings Court now resembles a well fitted business office in one of the skyscrapers of Richmond. The floor has been laid in Italian mosaic and the walls newly tinted and repaired. The new flat-top steel desks and one long library table of the same material, in addition to the sets of filing cases, which line the walls, complete the equipment.

The filing cases have during the past week been a source of great interest and much discussion to the residents of South Richmond. In fact, blanks there are provided fifty-six drawers and 531 document files. For special documents, which may require especially careful guard, twenty-four scoop files have been built, locked by means of one general lock. There are also in the room in steel, 112 roller shelves for heavy books, two wardrobes and nineteen drawers for special papers. These cases were put in under the direction of H. E. Holmes.

Charge Not Buried.

The case of Thomas Knight, who was arrested on Hull Street on Friday, charged with having in his possession stolen tools belonging to H. A. Wells, has been transferred from the Police Court at South Richmond to the Chester Court, Knight, who has many aliases, will there face the charge of burglary of the Farmer factory.

Wagon and Car Collide.

Whether the rain was such a surprise to a farmer driving his wagon to market that he failed to notice the approach of the Petersburg car, or whether the motorman of the car failed to see the farmer, is not certain. At any rate, at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a farmer driving his wagon and the car came into contact, with the result that the wagon was overturned and the farmer spilled into the street. Much amusement was afforded the onlookers, but luckily the farmer, who refused to give his name, was uninjured.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Roberts left yesterday for a ten days' trip to Niagara, New York and Atlantic City.

Misses Martha and Juliet Renner left Friday for Shepherdstown, W. Va. for a visit of a month with relatives and friends.

PRESIDENT PLANS IMPORTANT TRIP

Expected to Open 1912 Campaign in Swing Around Circle.

MAY BE GONE SIX WEEKS

Many Incursions Into Progressive Republican Territory Will Be Made.

Washington, August 5.—The most important trip that President Taft has planned since he has been in the White House, in the view of Republican leaders, a trip during which he is expected to open the 1912 presidential campaign for his party, will begin September 16. It will last at least four, and should it later be decided to extend the outing to the Pacific coast, it will stretch in six weeks, so that the President will not get back to Beverly or Washington until November.

According to the plan so far drawn up, the President will visit the Middle West, North of and including Missouri, and will make incursions into practically all of the States which have progressive congressional delegations. The President so far has given almost no consideration to speech-making on this trip, but it has long been the idea of Republican leaders that he would make as many political addresses as possible west of the Mississippi.

With three definite dates on the schedule, the whole trip has been tentatively planned. The first is at Knoxville, Tenn., where, on the 18th, the President is to open the Appalachian Exposition.

The next is at Rochester, N. Y., where, on the 23d, the President will address the National Encampment of the G. A. R. Between Knoxville and Rochester he may return to Beverly to deliver rest Other Southern States have asked the President to visit them in September, and it is probable he will accept some of the invitations.

From Rochester the President will make a jump to Hutchinson, Kan., where he is to speak at the State Fair September 24. On the way he plans to stop at one or two cities in Michigan, at Chicago, and probably will make a few more stops before reaching other sort of platform, addresses in Iowa.

From Hutchinson the President expects to travel into Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin, where he may see Pauline Wayne, the President's daughter, who is to be an exhibit at the International Dairyman's Exposition in Milwaukee. From this point the party may turn again into Kansas and Iowa.

If the trip is to end in four weeks Milwaukee probably will be the last White House call. If it should be extended the President will journey to Denver, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City and the coast, taking in California, Oregon and Washington, and returning East over a Northern route.
